AHF Art Curator Call Out

Dear Art Community,

The Anishnawbe Health Foundation is excited to announce a unique opportunity for a passionate and skilled Art Curator to join us in curating the artwork within the new Anishnawbe Health Toronto facility on Cherry Street.

Our extensive Indigenous art collection will be a central feature throughout the center, and we are seeking an individual who shares our commitment to cultural appreciation. As the new health center is purpose built and of connection to land, light and ceremony, it provides an ideal canvas for showcasing the profound significance of Indigenous Art.

Situated amidst First Peoples landscapes, the facility will boast indigenous plants, healing gardens and therapeutic spaces. Moreover, it will house sweat lodges and ceremonial grounds, making it a safe and significant space for many individuals. In line with Anishnawbe Health Toronto, we aim to have our exquisite art collection serve as a visual embodiment of the center's purpose.

If you are ready to contribute to the creation of a culturally enriching and healing environment, we encourage you to apply for this exciting position. Your role as Art Curator will play a crucial part in shaping the narrative of this vital space.

We look forward to receiving your application and the prospect of welcoming a dedicated individual to our team.

Please send your resume and cover letter to foundation@ahf.ca with the subject line Attention: Art Curator Application
